

Press Release:

My Deaf Site

<http://mydeafsite.com/>

We are striving to create a FREE social networking experience for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing community. All ages, religions, and backgrounds are welcome, world wide. The scope of this site is huge. Live Chat Rooms, Discussions, share information about your group or organization, post fun or entertaining information, start group discussions, the list is endless. Think of this as the My Space specifically for those that are Deaf or Hard of Hearing. We welcome you to this rich new online experience, and hope to quickly become your #1 visited internet resource.

- Live Chat Rooms
- Create your own Blog or Vblog (with the ability to customize the look you want with a user dashboard)
- Start multiple discussions with the Forums feature
- Create your own friends list and talk on line or email your friends
- Upload various types of information through the Media section. Utube, Media files, Pictures, Documents (Word, Excel, Adobe, etc.)

In the coming months, as demand increases we will add lots of new features and other incredible tools for you to use.

Create a login, upload an avatar (picture) to represent you online, and be sure to invite your friends!

If you have any questions, suggestions, or concerns, please feel free to email or private message admin@mydeafsite.com. If you see something you would like added, please feel free to let us know!

Feel free to jump in and speak with anyone online, or start your own conversations!

Spread the word to everyone you know! See you on the site!

<http://mydeafsite.com/>

Thanks! The MyDeafSite Team